WHEELING, JUNE 23, 1892.

FIRST DISTRICT
Congressional Convention.

A convention of the First Congressional District Republicans will be held in the city of Wheeling, W. Va., on Thursday, July 14, 1892, to nominate a candidate for Congress for said district to be voted for at the election to be held in November next, and to transact such other business as may come before the convention.

W. E. STATHERS,
 Chairman Congressional Committee.
 JOSEPH C. BRADY, Secretary.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT,
 BENJAMIN HARRISON,
 Of Indiana.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
 WHITELAW REID,
 Of New York.

"One Good Term Deserves Another."

OHIO COUNTY REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR SHERIFF,
 T. C. MOFFAT.

FOR PROSECUTING ATTORNEY,
 SAMUEL O. BOYCE.

FOR ANSWER, CITY DISTRICT,
 W. H. HORNISH.

FOR ANSWER, COUNTRY DISTRICT,
 ROBERT ANDERSON.

FOR COUNTY SHERIFF,
 JAMES GILCHRIST.

FOR MEMBERS HOUSE OF DELEGATES,
 S. G. SMITH,
 G. H. MEDICK,
 C. J. RAWLING,
 ALEX. McCOLLOCH.

The general results of three years of Republican control have, I believe, been highly beneficial to all classes of our people. The home market for farm products has been retained and enlarged by the establishment of great manufacturing industries, while new markets abroad of large and increasing value, long obstinately closed to us, have been opened on favorable terms to our meats and breadstuffs, by the removal of unjust discriminating restrictions and by numerous reciprocal trade agreements under section three of the McKinley bill. These acts of administration and legislation can now fortunately be judged by their fruit.—President Harrison, June 21, 1892.

IN 1890 it was a conflict of predictions; now our adversaries must face trade statistics and prices current.—President Harrison, June 21, 1892.

READERS of the Intelligencer going out of town for the summer can have the Intelligencer mailed to them for sixty-five cents per month, postage free.

The Democratic Tariff Plank.

The tariff plank as reported by the majority of the committee on platform was such a declaration as would suit no real protectionist. It aroused to savage fury the leaders of the free trade legions, and the fight was on.

The country owes a debt of gratitude to the men who made and won the fight for the minority report. As Mr. Waterson has said more than once, the Democratic party is a free trade party or it is nothing. Parties should say what they mean and mean what they say.

The Democratic party means free trade. As often as it has a chance to vote on the tariff it votes for free trade. There are men in this country who profess to want free trade. They look naturally to the Democratic party to give it to them, and that party in Congress, also in the White House when Mr. Cleveland was there, has sought to dose the country with the British article.

It is fair for the convention to say through its platform that the Democratic party holds tenaciously to the musty Bourbon doctrine that the government has no right to levy a tariff that is not for revenue only.

The adoption of the minority report, embodying the Kentucky British idea of the tariff, makes the issue fair and square between protection and free trade.

The Republican party is for protection. The Democratic party is for free trade.

Which do you want? Which will you ask for through the ballot box?

Where the Smile Comes In.

The Democrats in national convention assembled denounce in all the English they can command the pernicious activity of officeholders in the Minneapolis convention. They do not take the trouble to say that some of them were there opposing the renomination of the President.

But suppose that all the officeholders assembled in Minneapolis were there for the President, and suppose that they were as numerous as the opposition charged—what about the Democrats themselves? When Cleveland was renominated in 1888 he had all his officeholders at his back, and the Democratic platform of that year contained no reference to officeholders in and about national conventions.

And what do we behold in Chicago to-day? Five members of Mr. Cleveland's cabinet are there managing his campaign. Whole legions of minor beneficiaries of his administration are there to vote for him or to whoop it on the outside for him. They hope to feed once more at the public crib, and Cleveland is their Stuffed Prophet.

When the convention heard the reference to officeholders in conventions it must have smiled a smile that covered Lake Michigan to the Canadian shore.

Sheathed Their Tomahawks for Wampum.

The New York Herald's well known leaning to the Democratic side gives a queer look to this extract from one of its leading editorial articles:

It looks just now as though Cleveland had made a bargain with Tammany, or was about to make one. Tammany is a commercial as well as a political organization, and though pledged to Hill it is willing to consider propositions made by responsible parties. There is some reason to believe that beneath all the Tammany bluster about Hill—who is a dead lion so far as this campaign is concerned—is a willingness to smother its animosities and fall into the Cleveland line for a shorter and sufficient remuneration. In that case the American voter will have to choose between Republican bureaucracy and Tammany Democracy.

That Tammany is a commercial even more than a political organization has long been understood. That it has no political principles inconsistent with its notions of correct business management hasn't been questioned for a long time now. That under circumstances satisfactory to itself it stands ready to sheathe its tomahawk for wampum in sufficient quantities or its equivalent in offices, is a common and comfortable understanding, which has often been of advantage to the organization.

To be told that the immaculate Mr. Cleveland, the only champion of reform of all sorts, has got down to the level of Tammany and bought its acquiescence in his nomination, is an announcement that must grate harshly on every delicate Democratic ear.

The situation being what it is, the Herald says the choice is between "Republican bureaucracy and Tammany Democracy." What Republican administration of the affairs of this country is the people know. For thirty years, with one slight break, it has written the history of this country—a history without a parallel in the histories of the nations—increasing prosperity, increasing national grandeur.

For thirty years, with one slight break, it has written the history of this country—a history without a parallel in the histories of the nations—increasing prosperity, increasing national grandeur.

Increasing prosperity, increasing national grandeur.

Tammany Democracy is as well known. Until lately it contented itself with plundering the largest city in the union. Then its ambition sought to dominate the greatest of the states and by fraud unprecedented reach its goal. Intoxicated with success it conceived the bolder scheme of fastening its claws on the whole country.

Tammany expected to enter the White House at the heels of Hill. But it wants to get there. If it cannot go with Hill Cleveland will do. The Herald thinks the deal has been made. Since the choice is with the people there can be no doubt of the result.

The people will not crown Tammany President of the United States, no matter under whose name it may quadeas.

The Dark Horse in the Convention.

James K. Polk was the first of him, the first "dark horse" to take the prize in a national convention. It was in the Democratic national convention of 1844, in session in Baltimore. On the first ballot Martin Van Buren, of New York, had 146, Lewis Cass, of Michigan, 83, Richard M. Johnson, of Kentucky, 24, and 13 were scattering.

The seventh ballot having closed without a nomination, it was proposed to declare Van Buren the nominee, he having received a majority on the first ballot. The two-thirds rule stood in the way and the convention would not upset it. On the eighth ballot Polk was entered as a "dark horse," receiving 44 votes. On the ninth ballot there was a rush to Polk, who received all the votes in the convention.

Since then there have been dark horses of various degrees in conventions big and little, but national conventions in this day do not take so kindly to them. Mere obscurity is not thought to give the best title to a presidential nomination in either party.

It Will Bother Them in West Virginia.

The tariff plank adopted at Chicago is strictly Democratic, but it is going to give the brethren a world of misery in our own state of West Virginia.

There is our friend Camden, considerably interested in the coal and lumber trade; and our other friend, Henry G. Davis, is like unto him. How can these Democratic braves find room for their feet on a platform which declares that their industries have no right to live except on a British basis?

That tariff plank will be published and commented on more than once in the Republican press of West Virginia, and it will afford a highly interesting topic for every Republican stumper in the state.

The convention has given the Republican cause in West Virginia a handsome boost.

Tax British press will think better of the nominee of the Chicago convention than it did of the nominee of the Minneapolis convention. If this fact sets somebody to thinking the thinking will do him no harm.

DELEGATE JOHN F. DAVIS, of West Virginia, who was snuffed out by the delegation, may be supposed to have had some fun of his own when the minority tariff report went through.

The honor to our distinguished fellow citizen, William L. Wilson, is worthily bestowed and means that the Democracy is afraid that West Virginia may slip away this time.

The Chicago convention has been rained on every day. The soaked canvas becomes a wall blanket for the nominee. This is too bad.

There is talk of Mr. Gladstone retiring from public life. Then there would be joy among the Tories.

The Chicago platform is very tender of the rights of the people, especially the colored people, at the polls. The Democratic party in Chicago assembled and the Democratic party at the southern ballot boxes assembled, presents two very different but both engaging spectacles.

This Democratic platform hurrahs for civil service reform as it did before, just as though Mr. Cleveland did not ransack the jails for Democrats to help him run his office, just as though the headman did not get in his work as though he did not expect to get another chance. Civil service reform! Boah! It is the offices they are after.

They don't like the "force bill" any better than they did a few months ago. They don't want to be compelled to be honest. The law against highway robbery is a force bill.

BREAKFAST BUDGET.

The Christian Union prints this suggestive paragraph: "A company of ladies some time ago opened a mission in one of the poorer quarters of New York. Their work had not been in progress long when a police official—ignorantly mistaking the character of the house—called upon them to demand hush money."

The necessary money for placing the proposed powerful electric search light on the top of Mount Washington has been subscribed. The light will be the highest and strongest in the world, and will be seen from Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, New York and Canada.

A stream near Tucson, Arizona, petrifies all soft substance thrown into it. It is in the great Colorado potato beetle belt, and at the time of their migrations thousands of them strike the water and are converted into solid stone.

One day last week a watson zephyr started a couple of box cars down the Santa Fe track at Concordia, Kan., and it was all the switch engine could do to catch them and bring them back.

A Hungarian journal quotes a list of fourteen cases of suicide in a single regiment of engineers as proof of the bad treatment of the men by the officers of the Hungarian army.

M. Darnay has taken successive photographs of the lips of a speaker so that on arranging them a deaf mute, able to read from the motion of the lips, can understand them.

PERSONAL POINTS.

The late Father Mullinger was a man of great wealth and his home on Mount Troy was a veritable treasure house. His collection of saintly relics cost him $200,000 and he received $50,000 a year from his marvelous cures. During the last ten years 323,750 people received his blessing.

A bronze statue of the late Senator John P. Hale, of New Hampshire, to be erected in the state house grounds in Concord, has been completed in Munich and is on its way to this country. The unveiling ceremony will occur in July.

William K. Vanderbilt and W. Seward Webb propose to go to Chicago during the World's Fair in their own magnificent yachts. The canal locks on the route are sufficiently deep to float the vessels.

The centenary of the birth of the poet Shelley, on August 4, will be celebrated in various ways in London, and also at Field palace near Hordham, Eng., where he was born.

Lord Bradford's winnings from the Derby, including the stake itself, amounted to $120,000. He took one bet on Sir Hugo two years ago at the remarkable odds of £10,000 to £100.

HOT WEATHER HUMOR.

"They have wonderful fast workmen over in the states," said the returned English traveler. "I was talking one day, I remember, to two fellows, when one of them jumped up and said he must go, as he had only five minutes left to make a street car."—Indianapolis Journal.

Mrs. Goodie—"Young Slimby is a very exemplary gentleman. He takes his fiancée to church every Sunday." Mrs. Sharpe—"Yes, Slimby's a shrewd one. A couple of seats in the church are a deal cheaper than two chairs at the theater."—Boston Transcript.

"Mamma," said Little May, "I'm afraid I'm naughty, because I've got an awful stomach ache." "It was the pie you ate, I think, May." "Oh, no, mamma, the pie was too good to behave like that. It must be me."—Judge.

Caustic—"Hello, Bagley, old boy, let me shake your hand. I hear you're engaged." Bagley—"Don't be in a hurry, old man; I'm not married yet." Caustic—"That's the very reason I congratulate you."—Boston Post.

Mrs. English—"Your mother has gone out for a drive, I presume?" Little Girl—"No, ma'am; she's gone out for a ride. We have a man to do the driving."—Good News.

"Do wounds often heal by the first intention?" "Not when the patient is rich and the doctor poor." "When does mortification ensue?" "When you pop the question and are answered 'No.'"—Drake's Magazine.

ROUTING AN ARMY.

How the Worst Invasion of Modern Times is Absolutely Overcome. Hints of Great Value.

When men or women feel depressed or debilitated at the present day, it is common to say, "I think I have malaria." What is malaria? It is only germs that get into the body; germs that thrive and increase unless they are killed; germs that worm themselves all through the system; germs that ruin the health and undermine the life; germs that are aggressive, they feed upon the body, they must be killed. Many things which have been advocated for killing these germs will not do so. It has been thought that quinine would accomplish this, but really would cause take quinine; disagree with them, it often nauseates. It is known, however, that pure spirits taken in moderation will kill and entirely exterminate the worst army of germs which ever invaded the system. They cannot withstand it. Under the influence of pure stimulants the germs are killed, and the body is strengthened and expelled from the system, and thus restore the health.

It should not be understood, however, that all spirits will do this, few will. It requires something specially pure, and specially designed for this purpose and that is precisely what Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is. It is a reliable, medicinal preparation. It does not rank with the ordinary whiskeys, but is specially designed for fortifying the body and repelling disease. It has the highest endorsement of doctors and scientists; it is wonderfully popular because it is so efficient and powerful. Do not be deceived into the use of any other, for there is no other preparation upon the market that can accomplish what is accomplished by Duffy's Pure Malt. You will find that it is kept by reliable druggists and grocers.

THAT CONFERENCE

Between Gladstone and McCarthy Leaders Related only to Extending Guarantees.

LONDON, June 22.—The representative of the Associated Press in this city is authorized to state that the conference yesterday between Mr. Gladstone and the McCarthyite leaders almost solely concerned the proposals of Mr. Gladstone to extend guarantees to the minorities under the proposed new home rule bill. At the opening of the conference Mr. Gladstone asked what prospects there were for a reunion of the Irish parliamentary party. He was told that the prospects were remote. Though he said that renewed efforts should be made to re-establish union, he expressed no great concern as to the result, should that not be attained. He is so hopeful of such a solid majority at the approaching general elections that he believes that the return of a few so-called independents will not affect the issue.

An Irate Lord.

LONDON, June 22.—In the House of Lords yesterday Lord Denman made a rambling speech in opposition to the third reading of the agricultural bill. Lord Salisbury interrupted him, saying his lordship was speaking irrelevantly.

Lord Denman excitedly responded: "My lord, you want to cloture me. I am sure I am much obliged to you, but I will not give way in this hereditary house to the best man who sits in it."

At this point Lord Denman's voice was drowned in cries of "order" from all sides. Lord Denman thereupon took his seat. The bill passed its third reading.

TIN PLATE AND SHEET IRON

Scale Agreed Upon—the Workmen's Scale Accepted with Few Changes.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 22.—The joint conference of the Amalgamated Association and tin plate and sheet iron manufacturers agreed upon a scale this morning after an all night session, and the mills will be run without interruption. The scale is the one presented by the workmen with a few changes favorable to the manufacturers. Another conference to consider the iron and steel scale will probably be held to-morrow.

Scudder's Case.

CHICAGO, June 22.—Dr. Hoktoen, who held an autopsy on Dr. Scudder yesterday preparatory to an inquest, says of the results: "I found chronic changes in the spinal cord and brain, a slight oedema of the lungs, chronic inflammation of the aorta of the vessels of the heart and secondary changes in the heart muscles. The latter would account for the complaint Dr. Scudder used to make of a pain over his heart."
